Mentorship: a relationship in which one person with a certain area of expertise or knowledge helps guide another person without that expertise or knowledge.
Successful mentorship requires the commitment and cooperation of two people....

- Lainey Grossman
- Kelly Kavanaugh
- Courtney Alexander
- Janet Genz
- Martha Hauff
- Clare Owen
- Josi Taylor
- Alexander Gonzalez
- Isabel Zuclich
- Mike Morando
- Tammy Rodela
- Lara Yael Polansky
- Caitlin Julian
- Tammy Laberge
- Clémence Veauvy
- Emily Nelson
- Bethany Figiel
- Rachel Silverstein
- Kevin Brix
- Haley Nicholson
- Abigail Wisnet
- Jennifer Panlilio
- Joshua Lonthair
- Sara Marin
- Anthony Lange
- Maria Cartolano
- Jeremy Fulton
- Kirk Nuzum
- Alexander Frere
- Lea Medeiros
- Daniela Tizabi
- Aalekhya Reddam
- Marissa Lobl
- Christina Pasparakis
- Kevin Shauer
- Molly Amador
- Ilan Ruhr
- Tara Baris
- Vanessa Trujillo
- Erica Towle
- Francesca Forrestal
- John Steiglitz
- Rachael Heuer
- Andy Kempsell
- Jacqueline Coffey
McDonald Lab 2015/2016

Maria Cartolano

Molly Amador

Marissa Lobl

Aalekhya Reddam

Bethany Figiel
My science mentors

Mr. Jon Butcher

Mr. Trevor Finkle
Dr. Chris Wood

“Frankly, I am just a little bit disappointed…”

“When you talk to him, don’t do that valley-girl thing again”

“There are 24 h in a day and plenty of toadfish in the sea”

“What you lack in brilliance you have in common sense”

“What are you talking about? These are great data! Good work!”

“Frankly, I am a just a little bit disappointed…”
Dr. Patrick Walsh

There is more to life than science
Dr. Ed Mager
Dr. Jeffrey Richards
Dr. Kevin Brix
Dr. Doug Crawford
Dr. Gary Hitchcock
Dr. Mike Schmale
Dr. Margie Oleksiak
Dr. Kath Sloman
Qualities of my mentors that I try to emulate:

- Flexible
- Hardworking
- Approachable
- Realistic
- Motivational
- Collaborative
- Enthusiastic
- Supportive
- Respectful

Imitation is the sincerest form of flattery that mediocrity can pay to greatness

– Oscar Wilde