

AMBIENT Content Questions

Foodborne Illness Outbreak Investigation

1. How best can we prevent food borne illness outbreaks?
 - a. More inspections
 - b. More careful preparation, handling and storage of food
 - c. Closing restaurants with contamination problem
 - d. Only eating organic food

2. Restaurants keeping track, doctors reporting multiple cases, and media reporting to the health department are all ways that
 - a. Food borne illnesses can be recognized as outbreaks and not just individual cases
 - b. The health department can keep from involving the authorities
 - c. Individual cases of food poisoning can be linked to individual restaurants
 - d. Employees can be help accountable for their improper handling of food

3. What is a “point source” epidemic?
 - a. An epidemic of influenza
 - b. An epidemic of hepatitis A in a restaurant from a food handler
 - c. An epidemic of the common cold
 - d. An epidemic of polio